Fractional CFO FinTech Digital Assets and Payments

Description

Location: London / Hybrid

Engagement: Fractional, 3 days per week

Sector: FinTech — digital assets & payments

Reporting to: CEO / Board

About the role

Our client, a growth-stage FinTech serving international markets, is seeking an experienced London-based Fractional CFO to help steer the company through its next stage of development. This is a hands-on, board-facing appointment for a commercially astute finance leader who can combine capital markets thinking with practical, day-to-day finance leadership.

Working three days a week alongside the founder and leadership team, you will own the financial strategy, lead fundraising and investor relations, and provide the financial rigour needed to support an ambitious growth trajectory.

Key responsibilities

Lead financial strategy, planning and forecasting, and act as the senior finance voice to the CEO and Board

Drive investor fundraising activity, including preparation of investor materials, financial models and data rooms

Support the company's public markets ambitions, working closely with NOMADs, brokers and advisers through an AIM admission and beyond

Build and maintain robust financial controls, reporting and governance to support a scaling business

Provide commercial insight on pricing, unit economics and capital allocation

Manage relationships with banks, auditors, investors and advisers

Responsibilities

Essential experience

Qualified accountant (ICAEW / ACCA / CIMA) with senior finance leadership experience

Proven track record within FinTech, ideally with exposure to digital assets and/or payments

Demonstrable experience of AIM admissions and working with NOMADs

Strong investor fundraising credentials, from investor packs through to close

Experience operating at CFO or Finance Director level in a high-growth, entrepreneurial environment

Desirable

Experience of scaling finance functions in early- to growth-stage businesses

International or cross-border finance experience, ideally including African markets

Prior fractional or portfolio CFO experience
